

PEDAGOGICAL MODELING: STATUS AND TRENDS

The article deals with the modeling, which refers to the study of objects of knowledge on their models, which is a mandatory step in the scientific and methodical search for ways to improve the teaching components of the educational process. In turn, the model - is a schematic representation of the key characteristics of teaching systems, processes, situations. We also consider the characteristics of the models in general and teachers in particular models, their types and requirements to be met by the pedagogical model; features and principles of pedagogical modeling approaches that are used in the process of pedagogical modeling.

Key words: vocational education, professional activity, the education system, teaching model, teacher modeling.